School of Psychology

The Faculty of Social Sciences comprises nine departments, schools and institute, which offer undergraduate, masters and doctoral programs in both English and French. With its 10,000 students, 260 full-time professors, and wide array of programs and research centers, the Faculty of Social Sciences plays a key role at the heart of the University of Ottawa. Its graduate students are supervised by excellent researchers and undertake cutting-edge research in the Faculty’s master’s and Ph.D. programs.

The School of Psychology at the University of Ottawa is accepting applications for one tenure-track position, at the Assistant Professor level, in Child, or Adolescent or Family Clinical Psychology.

Duties

- Teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels
- Supervising Ph.D. candidates
- Conducting research and publishing activities
- Participating in the University’s academic and administrative activities
- Other activities as specified in the collective agreement

Qualifications

- Completed Ph.D.
- Demonstrated excellence in teaching
- Strength of the publication and research track record in the field

Bilingualism

The University of Ottawa is a bilingual institution, and all professors in the Faculty of Social Sciences must be actively bilingual to gain tenure. The successful candidate will be required to teach in both English and French from their second year in the department. The University of Ottawa offers second-language training to staff members and their spouses.

Hiring conditions and salary

Set by the current collective agreement. Position is subject to budgetary approval.
